

DEMOCRATS FAVOR LEAGUE

Massachusetts Resolutions
Committee Adopt
Plank For It

"IRISH REPUBLIC" PLANK REJECTED

Partially "Wet" Proposal
Was Also Voted Down
at Springfield

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 18.—A position of foreign affairs in entire agreement with the Democratic national platform and the program of Gov. Cox, the party candidate for president, was taken by the resolutions committee of the Democratic party of Massachusetts, according to individual members of the committee, after an eight-hour session which did not adjourn until early in the morning.

The platform report, as adopted for presentation to the state convention here, declared the peace of the world must be insured by the adoption of the league of nations and recommended that the first question to be taken up under the league by the United States should be the status of Ireland. A proposed plank urging the United States to recognize "the Irish republic," was voted down, according to the committee members, as was a proposal to declare for the legalized manufacture and sale of light wine and beer of not more than four per cent alcoholic content.

The San Francisco platform adopted by the national convention was endorsed in substance and the Wilson administration was approved. In addition, a plank was adopted condemning the Republican state administration for alleged treasury and bank mismanagement.

The endorsement of the league of nations, it was indicated, would possibly lead to a fight on the floor of the convention. Edward P. Barry, former lieutenant-governor, announced that he alone had the "Irish republic" plank of the resolutions committee of which he is a member, as he was "opposed to any league, and the English consider the Irish question a domestic one."

Francis J. Finnegan, president of the Democratic club of Massachusetts, who introduced resolutions calling for recognition of the "Irish republic," and for "four per cent beer," also said that he would fight the report on the convention floor.

LODGE REPUBLICANS SORE

Because Anti-Lodge Man Won Nomination in Massachusetts.

Boston, Sept. 18.—The resolutions committee of the Republican state convention was asked by Robert M. Washburn of Worcester to-day to adopt a plank, which would repudiate the party's nominee for lieutenant-governor in the primaries last week of Congressman Alvin T. Fuller, and endorse instead the independent candidacy of Mr. Washburn.

The plank as proposed by Mr. Washburn characterized the party nominee as a Democrat within the Republican party, a believer in the Wilson league and a continuous opponent of the Lodge reservations.

ILLINOIS PRIMARIES DIVIDED

One Thompson Candidate Nominated, One Is Defeated.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—With 5,077 out of 5,737 precincts in Illinois heard from to-day, Len Small's lead over John G. Oglesby in the Republican race for the gubernatorial nomination has been reduced to 3,424 votes. The vote for Oglesby was 329,029 and Small 334,458. The vote in 5,077 out of 5,737 precincts in the state for United States senator gave McKinley 3,442, and Smith 320,813.

South Royalton, Vermont.
"About three years ago I began to suffer with indigestion. Food soured in my stomach, causing me to belch; and I had terrible heart burn, with pains in my chest and arms. My heart became affected; I had shortness of breath; the action of my kidneys was irregular, the secretions scanty and scalding.

I was knocked out, and good for nothing, when I read about 'Fruit-a-tives' and sent for a box. I used a few and thought, 'well, they will turn out like all the other remedies I have tried' but to my surprise and gladness, I noticed improvement and I continued the use of 'Fruit-a-tives' (or Fruit Liver Tablets) with the result that a dozen boxes made me feel like a dozen other people."

"MOCKERY TO SHAME."

Present Styles of Dress and the New Dances So Declared.

San Juan, Sept. 18.—Present styles of dress and the newer dances are severely criticized as immodest and degrading by the Rt. Rev. William A. Jones, bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Porto Rico, who has issued a warning to both priests and parishioners against their demoralizing influences.

Certain of the modern dances are "mockery to shame and in reality are nothing more than a bait to sensuality," in the opinion of the bishop, while the style of the day in women's dresses, he warns, should not be used to "exhibit nakedness."

Priests are advised that they may not organize dances for church benefits, according to instruction from the Pope, while they may not attend festive organized by lay members of their congregations, where dancing is indulged in.

The bishop gives his views on dress and dancing in an ecclesiastical letter addressed to both priests and members of the church in the diocese and published in the official church bulletin.

EDUCATED IN VERMONT.

Mrs. Maria Upham Drake, Worker with Frances Willard.

Boston, Sept. 18.—Mrs. Maria Drake, a contemporary worker and public lecturer with Miss Frances Willard during the '90's in the cause of temperance, died Thursday at her home, 37 Fairfield street, aged 72.

She was born in 1848 in Oklahoma, where her parents were engaged in missionary work among the Cherokee Indians. She was educated at Fairfax, Vt. academy, Salem Normal school, where she was a teacher, and was graduated in the chautauqua college course. Some of her poems and other articles were published in different papers.

Her husband, James McE. Drake, of the Perry Mason Co., her son, Prof. Durant Drake of Vassar college, and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Drake, of the Newton Graphic, survive her.

GOV. COOLIDGE RAPPS GOV. COX

Declares Latter Has Resorted to Coarse Methods of Ward Politics

HAVE TURNED AWAY FROM IDEALISM

Coolidge Calls Democratic Administration "Chapter of Accidents"

Boston, Sept. 18.—Assertion that Gov. Cox, after attempting the role of idealist, had turned to the coarse methods of ward politics, resorting to wilder and wilder charges, was made to-day by Gov. Coolidge, the Republican vice-presidential candidate.

The governor, addressing the Republican state convention, said the Democratic nominee for president was named by a convention in which "idealists had very little influence." "Yet," he added, "after receiving a baptism of idealism at the White House, he attempted for a time the role of an idealist. He was to be the apostle of the 'great and solemn referendum.' His address of acceptance started the way.

"But the success has not been marked. Soon the methods of ward politics prevailed. To that eminent valentudinarian in the White House, a master of logical expression, correctness of style, always dignified, as he has beheld his exponent resorting to coarser and coarser methods, wilder and wilder charges, the referendum must for him become solemn and more solemn."

The Democratic administration of the past eight years, Gov. Coolidge termed "a chapter of accidents" and a "mixture of false hopes and false security." The people, he said, for a time mistook the mirage for a reality but, through support of Republican candidates and principles, he asserted the country "is turning again to realities."

"It wants to be done with a miasma of war," he continued. "It wants the security of peace. It wants to live again under the government of the constitution." He pictured the country as "turning with admiring eyes to the matchless figure of Washington, portrayed not as seceding in his pocket an act relieving him of the war powers his country had bestowed on him, but gladly standing before Congress and voluntarily surrendering those powers, which belong in time of peace only to the people. Such a figure animated by such a choice they propose to place again in the White House."

In his review of political history, Gov. Coolidge declared that the Baldwin convention which first nominated President Wilson did so after the apparent victory of Champ Clark had been "turned to defeat by the art of Dr. Bryan, who, in discovering that Tammany Hall was supporting Speaker Clark, deserted him and turned the nomination to Woodrow Wilson. That year the Republican party, attempting to elect two presidents at once, elected none, although they cast a large majority of the votes."

ASK SUSPENSION OF LAW.

Eight-Hour Law Enacted Not Satisfactory to All Parties.

Stockholm, Sept. 18.—A government committee which has investigated the operation of the eight-hour law enacted by the liberal-socialist Eden government has just recommended that the law be suspended and revised. It advocates that the length of the working day should be made dependent upon a mutual agreement between employers and employees and that some provision be made for longer working hours under certain circumstances.

The committee has announced, in finding that the expectation that the measure would encourage industry on the part of the workers has not been realized. It reports that in no single line of work have the employees shown any greater efficiency or energy, that there has been a considerable decline in production. It says that several big plants are on the verge of closing down because they cannot be made to earn profits owing to heavy charges for increased housing facilities for workers, higher payrolls and the high cost of machinery.

The committee's investigation covered a period of eight months. Under the law heavy fines on employers were authorized for infringement and councils of employers, employees and government representatives were established to consider any departure from the eight-hour working day established under the law.

When the measure was introduced, Hjalmar Branting, the socialist leader, and labor leaders declared it would not reduce production.

AMBULANCE BURNED UP
And Occupants Had to Hustle to Save Lives.

Bennington, Sept. 18.—Clyde Brislin, who came here recently from Rutland to work at the Walbridge undertaking rooms, and William Delong of this village had a narrow escape from being severely, if not fatally, burned, when an ambulance, in which they were riding, was destroyed by fire Wednesday night.

The ambulance had been to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Boutin in the western section of the town with the body of their son, Napoleon Boutin, jr., who enlisted from Bennington in company I of the 1st Vermont regiment early in the war and who was with the 56th division in many of its important engagements in France. He had recently been employed in an automobile factory in Detroit and died in that city Monday of pneumonia.

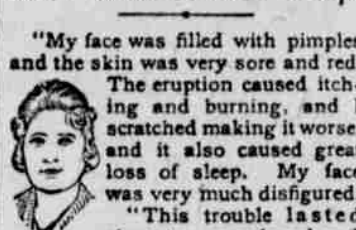

Brislin and Delong had just left the Boutin home on the return trip to this village, when there was an explosion under the ambulance and the vehicle was immediately wrapped in flames. Brislin, who was on the right, opened the door and escaped without being burned, but Delong's eyebrows were singed and his clothing was scorched before he could step on the brake and get out from under the wheel.

A thin coat of white paint on your screen will keep out the gaze of curious passersby and yet allow you to see from within.

To prevent raisins, currants or citron from sinking to the bottom of a cake, warm them well in the oven before adding them to the batter.

If you wish to make economical cuts of meat so tender and appetizing that everyone will like them, boil the meat in water to which you have added a teaspoonful of lemon juice.

Meringues on top of bread puddings so often fail or are in other ways unsuccessful that most people don't bother with them. Instead of the regular meringues cover the pudding with pulled marshmallows and put back in the oven long enough to heat the marshmallows and brown them slightly on top. This is an excellent substitute for the meringue and is much less trouble to make.

Apples in Season Again.
Nothing in all our varied and fascinating range of fruits holds quite the quality of the apple. A ripe raw apple at its best is digested in eight-five minutes, and the malic acid, which gives it its distinctive character, stimulates the liver, assists digestion and neutralizes much noxious matter, which, if not eliminated, produces skin eruptions, says the Ladies World. The more fruit we add to our dietary the clearer the brains and skin we are likely to have. "An apple a day keeps the doctor away." So runs the old adage, and certainly a plentiful use of them will save many a dose of nauseous medicine. An apple eaten before breakfast has a beneficial effect upon the complexion, and for those subject to biliousness it is worth a trial. Apples are like bread. We may want a change of kind, but bread it self we never tire of. And we are always on the outlook for something to add to the list of our apple recipes.

In a roasted state apples are wholesome and strengthening to a weak stomach. In malignant fevers, when used with the juice of lemons and currants, they are considered efficacious.
Apple Omelet.—Peel, core and slice half a pound of apples. Stew them with just enough water to keep them from burning. When soft beat to a smooth pulp with a fork. Add to it two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a dust of powdered cinnamon and two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice. Cool a little, then stir in the well beaten yolks of three eggs. Beat well. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Take an omelet pan, butter it thickly. Make very hot over the fire. Pour in the mixture. Cook over the fire for three minutes, put the pan into a fairly quick oven till it feels firm and spongy when pressed, and is a delicate brown. It may take five minutes. Fold over and serve at once on a hot platter.

Apple Dumplings.—This is made with suet pastry, and the apples are cored, peeled and cut across in thin slices. Sift two cupfuls of flour into a basin, rub a quarter of a pound of finely chopped suet into it, then add one teaspoonful of baking powder, one teaspoonful of sugar and half a teaspoonful of salt. Add enough cold water gradually to make a stiff paste. Roll out the pastry, and line a buttered pudding mold with it; put in half of the fruit, then sugar to sweeten and the rest of the apples. Cover with a round of the pastry, wet the edges and press together. Cover with a buttered paper and steam steadily for three hours. Turn out and serve with hot milk.

Apple Trifle.—Stew one pound of apples, then rub them through a sieve, add the yolks of two eggs. Lay some neatly cut pieces of stale spongecake in a glass dish and pour the apples over them. Leave them in a cool place for half an hour, then beat up the whites of the eggs stiffly, add two tablespoonfuls of sugar to them and pile on the top of the apples. Whipped and sweetened cream may be used in place of the white of egg. A hot apple pudding may be had if bread is used instead of spongecake. Lay the bread in a pudding dish, pour milk on the bread to moisten it. Then pour over the stewed apples, with or without the yolks of eggs. Bake in the oven half an hour. Cover with a meringue and serve hot.

Apple Snow.—Six large apples, the whites of six eggs, four tablespoonfuls of sugar, one lemon, a few strips of angelica or a few preserved cherries. Peel and core the apples, then stew them until tender, add a little water. Next rub them through a sieve. When the pulp is cold add to it the strained lemon juice and the sugar. Beat up the whites very stiffly, then add them lightly to the apple pulp, a tablespoonful at a time, beating continuously.

Serve the snow at once in custard glasses, sticking a few strips of angelica or cherry in the top of each glass to give it a pretty touch of color.

New Things Under the Sun.
When Solomon wrote Ecclesiastes he thought man had just about reached the limit in invention and discovery. "The thing that hath been," he wrote, "is that which shall be; there is no new thing under the sun."

But a lot of new things have come into use since then, the present generation being notably fertile in their constant production. The United States easily leads all other nations both in the utility and the variety of character of its later scientific triumphs, among which may be mentioned submarine and air navigation, telephony, the moving picture art, musical and talking machines, and all the marvelous uses to which electricity has been put by the incomparable genius of Edison.

There's something new under the sun every little while in America, and one of them is a talking clock in Philadelphia. Strange nobody ever thought of it before! This timekeeper speaks the hours instead of striking them. At 6 o'clock, a press telegram says, it cries: "Time to get up! time to get up!" At 7 it announces: "Breakfast is ready." At 11 p. m. we are told, it says: "Time to go home, young man; time to go home." There are other utterances for a polyglot clock that will occur to our readers. In time, we doubt, we shall have clocks to which different lines of talk may be attached for the different hours, suitable to many different occasions which arise in the home. Almost any experienced wife could suggest certain suitable remarks for use after midnight.—Omaha Bee.

BUICK

SURENESS of operation, power for hard, fast travel over all kinds of roads, capacity to stand up, are developed to the highest degree in the new Nineteen Twenty One Buick Series.

For two decades, Buick engineers have built Buick cars on these sensible lines for buyers who look upon the motor car as a business utility.

Each of the new models is equipped with the Buick valve-in-head motor.—a guarantee of power and positive performance.

With its capacity for service, Buick combines striking beauty. In resilience of spring suspension and appointments that make for riding comfort the new models are especially appealing.

In the new Buick three passenger roadster, you will find a car which meets every requirement for sure, swift, comfortable transportation for every business man.

The Housewives Burden

When a woman is almost distracted from overwork, her home is in disorder, crying children, and on top of all is suffering from backache, bearing down pains, or some other form of feminine ills, then she should remember that hundreds of women in just her condition have been restored to health and regained their youthful strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and not rest until she has given it a fair trial.

Proof that it Restored the Health of These Two Women

Cairo, Ill.—"Some time ago I got so bad with female trouble that I thought I would have to be operated on. I had a bad displacement. My right side would pain me and I was so nervous I could not hold a glass of water. Many times I would have to stop my work and sit down or I would fall on the floor in a faint. I consulted several doctors and every one told me the same but I kept fighting to keep from having the operation. I had read so many times of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped my sister so I began taking it. I have never felt better than I have since then and I keep house and am able to do all my work. The Vegetable Compound is certainly one grand medicine."—Mrs. J. R. MATTHEWS, 3311 Sycamore Street, Cairo, Ill.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my baby came when I could no longer keep up. It strengthened my back and relieved me of the ill effect which so often develops at such times. That was my first experience with the Vegetable Compound. Years afterwards I took it during the Change of Life and got along so well I scarcely ever had to lie down during the day and seldom had dizzy, fainting spells. I am now well and strong, can do all my housework with perfect ease and it is a comfort to me to be able to say to other suffering women 'take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine and be strong.' I will be glad to have you use my name if it will be the means of helping any one."—Mrs. R. A. FAIBURN, 609 Orchard Knob Ave., Chattanooga, Tenn.
